PREFACE.

SHORTLY after the publication of "The Ironmongers' Cost Price Book," it occurred to me—also it was suggested by my numerous patrons, that an address book, containing the most respectable and well-known Manufacturers, Factors, and Wholesale Establishments in the various branches of the Hardware Trade, would be a great boon, and exceedingly useful to the Trade; and save much time in ordering goods, besides the advantage of a ready means of knowing the best and cheapest houses. It is well known that the usual directories give no means of knowing the small and insignificant houses from the extensive makers: I go further, and give names where goods can be purchased to the best possible advantage; therefore the cost of the book bears no proportion to the value of the information.

An experience of thirty-five years in some of the most extensive manufactories and wholesale houses, has given me the opportunity of compiling a private directory; and, with few exceptions, the names here inserted are a copy of the same.

Although some of the firms may have changed hands since, I trust that all letter orders will receive their best attention. I might have extended the names, thereby making a large book; but to fill up a book with second-hand matter and names, would not only be useless, but defeat the object in view. Therefore, having duly considered and conscientiously selected the list embodied in this Directory, I have every confidence that they will be worthy of approbation, and be ample means for any extent of business.
